A Message from Paul Phillips Chair of Holland & Hart’s Management Committee

2007 marks Holland & Hart’s 60th Anniversary, and we are celebrating this event by reaffirming the core principles that have always guided the firm and brought us success: commitment to integrity, excellence, teamwork, service to clients, and—last but certainly not least—commitment to our communities. We at Holland & Hart have always understood that giving back is both a duty and a pleasure, and serves to bring us together with common purpose. The Holland & Hart Foundation is the purest expression of our firm’s collective commitment to community, both inside and outside the firm. Over the past year, literally hundreds of people have been touched and helped by scores of Foundation service projects throughout our seven-state region and beyond. We can all be deeply proud of the Foundation’s activities, and of every member of Holland & Hart—staff, paralegal, or lawyer—who gave of their time and energy to help others. As Winston Churchill said, “We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give.” We here know that by giving we receive; by helping we are enhanced; by reaching out a hand to others we lift ourselves up. There is something magical about the good will and good energy which multiplies among people and throughout the firm around the Giving Tree, the Flag Project, Meals On Wheels, Special Olympics, Lennox House, tutoring, gleaning, holiday baskets, soup kitchens, or any of our dozens of other Foundation projects. Truly, the Foundation is at the core of this firm’s unique character, a beacon to light our distinctive path through the next 60 years.

A Message from Bob Connery President of the Holland & Hart Foundation

The Holland & Hart Foundation, in its ninth year, heralds this firm's long-standing tradition and commitment to community service with the full support and encouragement of its management. It's a unique institution, that enables and empowers Holland & Hart volunteers to make worthwhile contributions to the many communities that sustain us, and to get to know each other in the process. It brings out the best in us, giving hope and meaning to many lives. It is personal and direct in the help it provides, and seeks to foster projects that "pass it on" – from tutoring disadvantaged kids to providing meals for abused women and children in shelters. Our founding partner, Steve Hart, was widely hailed as a "citizen of the West" for his many public services and contributions, from historic preservation to representing Colorado on the landmark Public Land Law Review Commission. That is our past and must be our future.

As we grow larger, the need for building the bonds and relationships that hold us together also grows. The Foundation intends to be an important vehicle for preserving and spreading the warmth, spirit, and humanity that is at the heart of its work. I hope you will take the time to join in Foundation projects, and be a part of what makes Holland & Hart not only a great place to work, but a family and a proud part of the many communities we serve.

Open Hart Awards

Each year the Foundation honors individuals who have been selected by each regional office. These individuals are selected for their outstanding volunteer effort. The individuals listed below are the 2006 honorees.

Aspen: Janet Finn always pitches in to help with any project on which the Aspen office is working. In addition, she participates in a local food kitchen feeding the homeless. She consistently “does for others” and sets a high standard for the rest of us to try and follow!

Billings:

Arlene Forney contributes fundraising ideas throughout the year. Arlene has been responsible for bringing in a ton of money for the Billings Committee to devote to Foundation projects. She says she has more ideas, too! After the tragic car accident that took the lives of Casey Ewen’s husband, Shane, and little girl, Ellie, Arlene went to the hospital every day, sometimes twice a day. Sometimes she brought needed small items, but mostly sat and listened to Casey and her family as they talked and shared family stories. Arlene’s presence was better than any monetary gift and is what the Foundation is all about.

Boise: Nicole Snyder (left) and Pam Howland (right) were honored for their continuing organization of the Boise Christmas project. For the third year in a row, Nicole and Pam took the lead and organized this monumental effort for Boise. Gina Kortan was also recognized for her tireless efforts on all Boise projects!

Boulder:

Linda Giarratano was chosen for the Open Hart Award because of her ongoing active involvement in Foundation activities, including planning and participation. She has been on the committee for eight years.

This year, as a member of the committee and its treasurer, Linda was a key person involved with planning, setting up, and implementing the Meals On Wheels volunteer program, the annual planting day at Blue Sky Bridge, and fundraiser lunches. In addition, Linda actively participates in all committee meetings and has helped make decisions on Boulder’s other Foundation activities.

Cheyenne:

activities, including Easter Basket decoration and distribution, coats/warm clothing for the needy, back-to-school fundraisers, Christmas and Thanksgiving food and clothing drives, toys for STRIDE and/or Safehouse. Walter has been actively involved with the Boys and Girls Club in Cheyenne for several years and has been a member of its Committee for two years. He has assisted H&H employees and others with numerous legal matters on a pro bono basis.

“These individuals exemplify the Spirit of the Foundation, paying it forward in all our communities.”

—Paul Phillips

Colorado Springs: Kent Karber received the Open Hart Award for his many years of work with the Colorado Springs Parks & Recreation football program. He does not take his coaching efforts lightly and spends 15 or more hours per week training his team. Although Kent approaches Park & Rec football like he would the Rose Bowl, he will be the first to tell you it’s not about winning or turning his young men into football greats. He hopes they will grow to be good husbands, fathers, citizens, and friends due to his leadership, fine example and “Open-Hart.”

Denver: Janet Elder received the Open Hart award because of her tireless efforts and dedication to the folks at Lennox House. This year marked Janet’s 20th consecutive year of coordinating the Thanksgiving Pie Reception and Holiday Party for Lennox House. Janet also lends her time to the Meals On Wheels program, Habitat for Humanity, the March of Dimes Walk, the Alzheimer’s Memory Walk, the Pocket Flag Project, the Soup Kitchen, gathering and shipping items for Mothers Without Borders, and many other fundraising activities. Outside the office, she volunteers at her church. She has also worked with a food bank, the Thursday Night Bar, and at charity races.

Denver Tech Center: All of the “DTC Blood Donors” received the Open Hart award. Because office participation was so high for their Children’s Hospital Blood Drive and their food drive, Lee Gray, DTC Foundation Chair, decided it was important to recognize the entire group. See photos on page 10.

Jackson Hole: “The entire Jackson Office” received this year’s award because they are a small office and are only able to do one big project a year (cooking freezable meals for the Community Safety Network - Women Shelter), which they all do together. See the article and photos on page seven.

Salt Lake City: Jennifer Lange was chosen because of her outstanding leadership and because of the example she has set. Jennifer organized the office’s participation in the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Walk. She coordinated one of the dinners the office served to homeless families and participation in the annual United Way Day.

Santa Fe: Diane Hamamoto is Santa Fe’s Open Hart award winner this year. Diane works tirelessly for the Foundation throughout the year. She participates in most of Santa Fe’s activities and acts as the Santa Fe Committee Treasurer. Diane is always ready with an encouraging word or her physical support.

Wyoming

Cheyenne

- Annual Share the Warmth Open House: Guests donated new or gently-used warm clothing to Needs, Inc., COMEA Shelter, Wyoming Coalition for the Homeless and/or the Safehouse and STRIDE families. Safehouse is a private, not-for-profit organization which provides services to victims or survivors of domestic violence, stalking, and sexual assault. STRIDE Learning Center provides comprehensive, quality services for children with special needs and their families in a safe and compassionate environment so that they may achieve their fullest potential.
- Back to School: Employees donated $170 to NEEDS, Inc. to purchase school supplies and backpacks for 10-15 children in need throughout Cheyenne.
- Book Sale: In November employees brought in new and used books, CDs, and DVDs for sale. They raised over $50 which was used for the Holiday Projects and sent the remaining books to the Denver office for their book sale.
- Easter: The Cheyenne office purchased and filled Easter baskets for the children of Safehouse using $170 raised from a breakfast buffet.
- Cheyenne Community Clinic: Dayle Petrillo handled financial matters for the clinic throughout the year. Along with other office volunteers, she assisted with mass mailings of the Clinic's annual newsletter. They also organized a holiday wreath sale with all proceeds going to the Clinic.
- Holiday Projects: The Cheyenne office adopted three large families (totaling 19 individuals)—one each from Safehouse, STRIDE, and a local elementary school. Each family received donations of food, clothing, toys, phone cards, and small kitchen appliances. The STRIDE family had triplets and participants purchased a triple stroller for them. Another family received a 20" TV, thanks to our generous donors!
- Meals On Wheels: Four volunteers delivered food twice a month to the elderly and homebound.
- Thanksgiving: Volunteers provided a dinner for 25 individuals at Safehouse.

Lynda Zeringue, one of Santa's helpers in Cheyenne, organized hundreds of items donated at the Share the Warmth Open House.

Billings

- Angel Fund: The committee donated cash for gift certificates, goods, vouchers, or services for children in middle school and high school who are at risk of falling through the cracks. The children are having difficulties staying in school and are struggling to get by. Recipients are selected by a committee at the schools.
- Easter Project: Volunteers created Easter baskets for five needy families selected by Family Services, including hams, fresh food items, new toys, and candy.
- Fundraising: The committee held monthly, five-dollar lunches to raise funds for its many projects.
- Holiday Projects: The committee purchased a reconditioned gas stove through a local appliance dealer and had it installed at the home of a family in need. Office members adopted another family and bought clothes, gifts, and Christmas dinner for them.
- Senior Helping Hands: Everyone purchased presents for senior shut-ins.
- Tumbleweeds Program: The Billings office bought pots, pans, cleaning supplies, dishes, towels, sheets, and gift cards for runaway teens in the Tumbleweeds program who are starting up households.

New Mexico

Santa Fe

- Coats for Kids Drive: The office donated $350 to the Coats for Kids Drive organized by St. Vincent's Regional Medical Center to provide warm winter coats to children in area schools.
- Esperanza Shelter for Battered Women: The office sponsored two families at Christmas—a mother with four children, and a mother with three children—providing them with gift cards, clothing, appliances, books, and toys. In addition, the Santa Fe office fulfilled the wish lists of seven children at the shelter whose original sponsors were unable to help.
- Fundraising: The Santa Fe office held two major fundraisers. Senior partners donated the use of a parking lot to sell space during Spanish Market and Indian Market weekends, and volunteers hosted breakfasts and lunches to raise additional funds for Foundation projects.
- Holiday Projects: Office members sponsored a family of six, recently relocated to New Mexico, by providing nearly $300 in gift cards, clothing, and toys.
- Pediatric Unit, St. Vincent's Regional Medical Center: Toys were donated to children who had the misfortune of being in-patients during the holidays.
- Thanksgiving: The office donated 25 turkeys to needy families through the San Ysidro parish.

Brian Olaechea, Barbara Hart, and Joanna Garcia wrapped holiday gifts for a family of six.

Boise

- Fundraising: The committee held their annual Bazaar and Bake Sale to raise money for holiday projects. In addition, volunteers made and sold breakfast burritos, cookies, and brownies throughout the year to raise funds for other projects.
- Holiday Projects: The Boise office provided a single mother, her four children, and one grandchild with a roof over their heads. The Boise Committee paid for a new roof and its installation.

- Juvenile Detention Center: The committee held a book drive to provide books to troubled teens.
- Project Warm the Hart: Boise office members collected warm clothing, blankets, scarves, hats, and gloves for adults and children in need.
- Rake Up Boise: Two teams of 28 volunteers raked up leaves from the yards of five homes.

They also raked up leaves at the local Ronald McDonald House.

- Women's and Children's Alliance & Life's Kitchen: Members of the Boise office collected used cell phones to give to the Women's and Children's Alliance and to Life's Kitchen. The phones will be used to call 911 in an emergency.

Katherine Burkett, Tara Barlow, and Colleen Jasper assisted with the Book Drive for the Women & Children's Alliance Center and the Juvenile Detention Center.

Boise office members collected 13 banker boxes of books for the Women & Children's Alliance Center and the Juvenile Detention Center.

Aspen, Boulder, and Denver Tech Center

Aspen

- Highway Cleanup: Volunteers participated in two trash pick-ups along the highway.
- Holiday Project: Participants purchased, wrapped and delivered Christmas gifts for 25 residents, an entire wing, of the local retirement home.

Boulder

- Fundraising: Office members purchased and sold snacks to raise money for their Foundation activities. In addition, a fundraising lunch was held in early November.
- I Have a Dream (IHAD) Foundation of Boulder County, Colorado: Boulder office members adopted a family and purchased, wrapped, and delivered gifts. IHAD is a long-term dropout prevention program for low-income families.

- Meals On Wheels: Volunteers delivered meals to the elderly and homebound every Tuesday.

Denver Tech Center

- Children's Hospital Blood Drive: In February and October the Denver Tech Center Office and the Foundation Committee hosted two blood drives benefiting babies and children at Children's Hospital. They donated over thirty units of blood in these two blood drives.

- Holiday Projects: The Denver Tech Center adopted 17 children from the Boys and Girls Club of Denver, providing Christmas presents to each one. They also adopted a family from the Rocky Mountain Children's Law Center, providing household necessities such as dishes, kitchenware, and baby items to a young mother who regained custody of her infant child.
- Voter Education Lunch: The committee sponsored a voter education lunch with a speaker from the League of Women Voters.

Denver

- Alzheimer's Association Memory Walk: In September, the H&H team won the corporate award for the sixth consecutive year, raising $12,860 for the Denver Chapter.
- Bring Your Child to Work Day: On April 27th, volunteers accompanied 30 children on office tours. Children participated in a mock trial of the "big bad wolf," enjoyed a pizza lunch, and caught a glimpse of the important work that their parents do for the firm.
- CPS School Partners Program: The Denver office sponsored a school supply drive for Ellis, Mitchell, and Montclair Elementary schools. They sent 50 school supply kits to each school.
- Center for Work Education and Employment: In the spring and fall, participants held a clothing drive and donated business-related attire to the Center. CWEE assists low-income single parents and families to develop and expand the skills and confidence necessary to obtain continuous, meaningful employment and career advancement.
- Children's Hospital Blood Drive: In October the Denver Office and the Foundation hosted a blood drive benefiting babies and children at Children's Hospital. They were supplied several units of blood for emergency need and provided additional support for the project first undertaken by the Denver Tech Center office.
- Coats for Colorado: Alec Kemp collected winter coats and distributed them to local charities for those in need.
- Craig Hospital Rite of Flight: Foundation volunteers helped local pilots and crew provide hot air balloon rides for Craig Hospital patients. Money was raised during the year to help cover costs of fuel to fly the patients, and food donations were accepted to serve to all of the patients, pilots, and crew after the flight.
- Easter Seals Camp: Attorney volunteers helped with a variety of fundraisers. Easter Seals services give children and adults with disabilities opportunities to live with equality, dignity and independence.
- Food Baskets: Denver volunteers teamed up with local area churches and Jewish Family Services to provide Easter and Passover dinner food baskets for 10 local families in need.
- Food Drive: Denver office participants donated 1440 pounds of canned food and non-perishables to local food banks.
- Gleaning Project: Volunteers gathered cabbages from a local field that were not collected by farmers during their fall harvest. The cabbages were donated to COMPA Food Ministry for families in need.
- Haven's Hope Baby Supply Drive: As part of the firm's summer picnic festivities, participants donated diapers and other baby supplies to Haven's Hope.
- Holiday Giving Tree: Participants in this annual event adopted more than 150 families and individuals providing food, clothing, bedding, household necessities, and, of course, toys. Donations benefited families and individuals designated by the Salvation Army, Jewish Family Services, and the Rocky Mountain Children's Law Center. The project culminated in a visit from "SAMta," Sam Guyton, who visited with H&H families and their children and shared the joy of the season.

Volunteers from Denver and Cheyenne participated in the October Gleaning Project. Matt Weber, his wife, Ann, and his son, Tommy, were part of the group that picked cabbages near Brighton, Colorado, for the COMPA Food Bank Ministry.

Many children joined their families to pick cabbages for the COMPA Food Bank Ministry.

Pam Miller and her son, Phoenix, Lynda Zeringue, Mai-Lin Hegel, and Alec Kemp gleaned cabbages for the COMPA Food Bank Ministry.

Kit LeVoy, her son, Drew Sajsza, and their friend, Annie, helped glean a cabbage field for the COMPA Food Bank Ministry.

Volunteers planted trees at St. Vrain State Park to celebrate Earth Day.

SAMta, Sam Guyton, visited with Kyle, Lucy, and Teddy Bender, children of attorney, Jon Bender, during the Holiday Giving Tree festivities.

Kimberley Dempster Neilio and her son, Rowan, shared some special time with SAMta.

Denver

- Hope Center Trick-or-Treat: On Halloween about 80 of the most darling 3-5 year-old goblins visited the Denver office to trick-or-treat. The halls of all eight floors were decked out with cobwebs, bats, and monsters to welcome the children. Hope Center is a United Way-supported day care center that cares for at-risk children. This event was the children's only Halloween outing.
- Lennox House: Denver office members baked pies and provided cheer to the residents of Lennox House just prior to Thanksgiving. In December, a group from the Denver office threw a holiday party with gifts, live music, and food for 60 of the most needy residents of the city. In addition, travel toiletries were collected throughout the year for the residents. The year 2006 marked the 20th consecutive year of volunteer participation on these projects.
- Meals On Wheels: Approximately 65 H&Hers participated in the Meals On Wheels program. The team of volunteers coordinated with Volunteers of America to deliver meals every weekday to persons in need in the downtown area. Recipients of the meals included persons that were either homebound or over 60 years old.

In addition, the Denver office has celebrated Cinco de Mayo for the past four years with a great homemade lunch of smothered burritos, tacos, tostadas, and desserts with proceeds benefiting Meals-On-Wheels.
- March of Dimes WalkAmerica: In April, several H&H volunteers walked 10 kilometers to raise funds to help improve the health of babies by preventing birth defects, premature birth, and infant mortality. WalkAmerica is the oldest charitable walking event in the nation.
- Mothers Without Borders: H&H donors joined others in the community to provide support to more than 60,000 orphaned and vulnerable children living in Zambia, Zimbabwe, and Uganda and to help with projects in Madagascar, Ecuador, and Honduras. Children received clothing, school kits, toiletries, and blankets. Women were provided with resources to start their own sewing businesses.
- Outdoor Colorado: On Earth Day—April 22nd—seven volunteers planted trees in St. Vrain State Park in Longmont.
- Pocket Flag Project: Denver volunteers led by Marcy Weaver and Michele Clark continued to provide a little bit of home to our troops in Iraq and Afghanistan—a pocket flag delivered with our thanks for their service. Two Marines visited the Denver office in November to extend their gratitude to the Foundation for their pocket flags.
- Race for the Cure: In October, 44 H&H employees, spouses, and friends raised more than $5000 for the fight against breast cancer in the largest Race for the Cure in the nation.
- St. Andrew's Episcopal Church Gardening Project: In June, volunteers planted flowers in containers surrounding the church.
- Share the Warmth: In December and January the Denver office collected scarves, gloves, and hats to be distributed to local charities in need of warm clothing.
- Soup & Craft Bars: In May and December, Denver hosted their annual Soup & Craft Bars to raise money for the Alzheimer's Foundation and Lennox House, respectively. Volunteers donated their cooking talents and showcased amazing arts and crafts.

Volunteers served lunch at the Cinco de Mayo fundraiser for Meals-On-Wheels.

- The Road Home: The office provided and served dinner on two occasions for families housed at this local shelter for homeless families. They served dinner to about 80 people each night, including 50 to 60 children.
- Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation Race for the Cure: The office participated in the Race for the Cure for the third year.
- United Way Sub-for-Santa Shop: The Salt Lake City office provided Christmas for several families in need providing toys, pants, shirts, coats, socks, and underwear for three families of four. This project is an annual favorite. Members of the office also volunteered time in the afternoon and on weekends to assist the United Way Sub-for-Santa Shop.
- United Way Campaign: The office raised over $27,000 in its annual United Way Campaign.
- United Way Day: Volunteers served at the Utah Food Bank where they sorted and boxed food.

A Bountiful Harvest

The final totals are in for the food drive challenge. Collectively, the Holland & Hart regional offices donated 5,785 pounds of food.

Denver started the challenge with a bang—1440 pounds! Several other offices soon rallied to beat Denver's total with 2000 pounds.

Then, Boulder jumped in with 473 pounds. Santa Fe followed with 237 pounds and later added another 120 pounds in turkeys for Thanksgiving baskets. Boise countered with 420 pounds and Aspen soon followed with 295 pounds.

The totals climbed as Billings collected 348 pounds. Colorado Springs, through actual collections and dollars donated, gathered 1561 pounds for their local food banks. Jackson's cooking project netted another 50 pounds. Not to be left out, Salt Lake City collected 396 pounds and Cheyenne 195 pounds. Last, but certainly not least, DTC weighed in at 250 pounds.

After figuring the average weight donated per person for each office, it was determined that the Aspen office won the challenge and, as a result, was the first recipient of the "golden soup can" Food Drive Traveling Trophy. The trophy was conceived by Buzz Cleveland, President of the Denver committee, and will be the Foundation's equivalent to the "Stanley Cup" of the National Hockey League. It will be exciting to see what a bit of friendly competition will bring in 2007!
